

“DRIVE WITH US” in 2000

Transfluid, in the course of the last ten years, has had a constant increase in sales thanks to the acquisition of new markets. For the future we are counting on new product development to complete our product lines and to launch us into the next phase of high growth.

With this goal in mind, we feel that a higher market profile is required and therefore have studied better ways to communicate and improve our image. In order to compete in today's evolving markets, more accurate and timely information, attention to client's needs and clear objectives must be managed.

To develop this strategy, we have adopted methods and instruments internally to streamline communication between departments and added professionals in key positions. All this to obtain our goal of increasing the quality of our work, optimizing our energy and resources and ultimately, helping us to achieve a common success.

Our principle scope with this publication is to exchange information and ideas between our clients, agents, distributors and suppliers.

TRANSFLUID INFO, which will be published periodically, is only one instrument of an ambitious project of communication being implemented. Within a few months a complete web site, with continually updated information and a CD ROM with interactive content, a company profile, product applications, catalogs, animations, functional diagrams and our world sales network will be released.

We can grow, only with your continual collaboration and constructive input and are looking forward to obtain a reciprocal advantage through the use of these new tools.
